Dr. Roland Krämer and the first canned motor pump

60 years HERMETIC:
Around the world with the hermetic principle

More about HERMETIC history

A pump that has a second safety cover and thereby guarantees double density; an hermetic seal that pumps critical fluids and therefore protects people and the environment; that works contactlessly and is therefore practically maintenance-free: Hermann Krämer re-engineered this vision with the development of the leakage-free canned motor pump in 1954 in Freiburg – and was a step ahead of his time.
